Ref: RDGR20151020002

Details

Title: H2020 partner search: Marie Skłodowska-Curie Innovative Training Network (ITN-ETN) on basic and pre-clinical research for regulating the immune system.

POD Reference: RDGR20151020002

Summary: A Greek research team intends to submit a proposal to the MSCA-ITN-2016-ETN call (deadline 12/01/2016), in order to establish an ITN network to train PhDs on basic and pre-clinical research related to the development of chemical compounds that regulate adaptive immune responses as possible therapeutics for cancer & autoimmunity. The existing consortium already includes partners from Greece, France, UK, Spain, Israel & Italy. They are looking for relevant industrial partners to join the consortium.

Description: A Greek research team is re-submitting a proposal that received a very favourable evaluation in the MSCA-ITN-2015-ETN call on establishing an ITN network to train PhDs on basic and pre-clinical research into the development of novel compounds regulating the immune system as possible therapeutics for cancer and autoimmunity. The existing consortium is very coherent and the proposal has already received very positive evaluations and is in the process of being optimized for re-submission. They are looking for industrial partners that can host students for short-term secondments as part of this project so that the students gain maximum exposure to the industrial sector.

The submission deadline is on 12 January 2016 and all expressions of interest should have been received by 12 December 2015.

Advantages and Innovations: Network already established and very coherent, including partners from Greece, France, UK, Spain, Israel & Italy. Proposal has already received highly-positive evaluations and is in the process of optimization for re-submission.
